The Irish Writers Centre is a flagship resource organisation for writers. It offers professional supports to meet the needs of writers at all stages of their development through training, information, networking opportunities and programmed events.

A key part of our role is to offer a comprehensive and innovative toolkit/service to support the professional development of writers.

We are committed to fostering communities and connections between writers across Ireland; we also commit to celebrating their writing by creating audiences for their work at home and abroad. These goals are achieved through our specialised online presence, our physical hub in Parnell Square and our national and international outreach programmes.

All our actions are guided by the core principles of integrity, excellence and sustainability. The Irish Writers Centre is registered with the Charities Regulatory Authority (CHY 19738) in the Republic of Ireland and has recently completed an in-depth process to fully comply with the Charities Governance Code. Functions of the Board & Duties of Directors

The Irish Writers Centre is governed by a voluntary board of Directors. Our Board members receive no payments and serve a maximum of two three-year terms. The Board is responsible for the strategic direction and control of the company. It is responsible for the system of internal financial control and oversight responsibility for the activities of the organisation. The Board delegates to the management and sub-committees the responsibility for the implementation of these policies. Members of the Board will be expected to play key roles in relation to the direction, leadership and governance of the organisation.

Directors have legal duties and obligations imposed by the Charities Regulator, other statutes and common law. Directors must act in good faith, act honestly and responsibly and act according to the company's constitution.

Directors will be required to contribute effectively to the work of the Board. This will involve the ability to balance a strategic view of key decisions with a specialist or expert financial perspective as Treasurer, while being committed to the principle of collective decision making that underpins the Board's role.

The Irish Writers Centre keeps detailed books and records of accounts and maintains strict financial controls. The organisation is transparent in its audited financial statements. These accounts are independently audited and made public on our website and are compliant with the principles outlined in the Statement of Recommended Practice for Charities (SORP), which is recognised as best practice by the Accounting Standards Board.

The Board of Directors is responsible for:

- establishing and ensuring the implementation of policy objectives based upon current and future agreed strategies for the organisation;
- overseeing and maintaining the financial health of the organisation;
- ensuring the highest standards of governance and transparency;
- enabling and delegating to sub-committees/working groups prudent decision-making powers for efficiency in relation to certain projects to ensure that the Company has access to the broadest range of specialist expertise and advice in all aspects of its work (see below).

Please note that the Company's Constitution clearly states that no Director appointed to any office of the Company shall be paid by salary or fees, or receive any remuneration or other benefit in money or money's worth from the Company.

The Treasurer is responsible for:

- preparing and presenting understandable financial reports to the Board;

Working Groups/Sub-Committees

In order to deliver IWC strategy and goals, a series of working groups/sub-committees of the Board has been established to focus on specific aspects of the board's work. More may be established as required. Each sub-committee includes up to two directors from the board and is chaired by a sub-committee member.

The Chair of the sub-committee is responsible for reporting on its activities on a timely basis to the Board. The Board delegates such powers as are prudent to the sub-committees but any recommendation of the sub-committee is referred back to the Board for decision. A senior member of the Executive Team has responsibility for providing executive services to each sub-committee.
